Reinvent The Genie In You!

will then realise that there's a world as vast as the universe — within you!

Now, consider each cell to be a different person with multiple skills. What if each cell/person has been assigned a task and given a responsibility. Just as we share responsibilities at home and at work, these cells are all working in sync, performing their respective functions. This is the secret of our very existence.

Our brain, for example, has a well-spring of self-produced neurochemicals. Each neurochemical performs a different function. Endocannabinoids create bliss, dopamine creates a sense of reward, while oxytocin fosters bonding between individuals. The imbalance of neurochemicals in our lives is responsible for making us more prone to depression, anxiety and stress-related issues. With the prescription of a few simple lifestyle choices and changes in behaviour, we can control and guide the creation of these chemicals within our brain, which can aid in making us feel better and motivate us to maximise our human potential.

Thus, we all have immense potential and power within ourselves. If we can ensure that there is little or no conflict within the different cells in our body, all the cells can perform their tasks as well as assist others during deviations. In short, we can achieve whatever we want in our life on our own strength.

Thus, we all have the powers of a genie within us and we ourselves can be the magicians of our lives.

Why we continue to suffer is because we lack complete knowledge of such miraculous possibilities within us, and therefore, keep suffering and slogging all our lives.

A session at De Mantraa can help you identify this inner connection and nurture it, making you the mastermind of your own life.

Imagine for a moment that you have a genie at your service to fulfil all your wishes. The mere thought is thrilling, isn't it? Indeed, in modern times, our wishes have shifted from the material to the psychological.

So, while many of us will still ask for all the riches of the world, an equal number of people will also be seeking fulfilment of their emotional needs.

This reveals that human life is designed to be a blissful experience, not a struggle. Our Creator has ensured that we are born with all the qualities needed to lead a fulfilling and satisfying life. Why then do we keep struggling with problems, which are both physical and mental in nature?

The answer lies in the fact that we keep trying to find solutions outside us. Popping pills has become the golden solution to almost everything — be it a physical issue or a mental issue. We fail to get to the root of our problems. As a result, we destroy the delicate connection between our body, mind and soul, never even attempting to repair it.

But, what if you looked within? Perhaps, you expect to see a complex system of veins, nerves and organs. Going deeper, you will see a community of over 50 trillion living cells. You
